FOUNDER OF MOVEMENT WILL ADDRESS THE CONFERENCE HERE

PROMINENT SPEAKERS ARE GIVEN

Two Hundred and Fifty Students Expected to Attend

The outline for the program of the Student Volunteer Conference to be held on G. S. C. W. campus from February 12-14 promises many well known and worth while speakers. Not only will they represent a varied group of people with one great purpose, but each one is to bring his interpretation. They will afford a broad, many-sided opportunity to obtain a grasp upon such affairs.

To open the conference, "to break the ice", so to speak, Dr. Ashby Jones will speak at the first meeting Friday night, February 12. Dr. Jones is from the Ponce de Leon Baptist Church in Atlanta, and is the brother of Dr. Carter Helm Jones. His interesting subjects is, Modern Youth—Whither Bound? It calls forth much anticipation from the student body.

TEA ROOM IS HOME EC. PROJECT OF SPRING TERM

Practical Experience To Be Great Factor

The Home Economics department is going to offer a new course this semester. It will probably become one of the most popular on the campus because of the unusually interesting and attractive feature that it is going to present—a tea room.

The tea room, which will be operated by the Home Economic girls, will be on the campus east of Terrell Hall proper. The color scheme is to be blue and ivory. The walls and woodwork will be ivory with a blue design on the latter. The curtains will be of those colors, and the china will have blue designs on it. The color scheme will possibly be carried out in the little painted tables and chairs.

The exterior of the tea room is to be as attractive as the interior. There will be a rose trellis over the entrance. Shrubbery and flowers will surround the building.

Later in the spring, the lawn directly behind the tea room will be inclosed by lattice work, forming a tea garden. Tables will be placed there and tea will be served out of doors.

At 5:30 every afternoon the charming waitresses will serve all kinds of tempting salads, sandwiches and beverages. Home made candies, delicious pies, and cakes will be sold. Orders for hikes, feasts, and parties will be made specialties.

Student Volunteer Conference To Be Held Here Feb. 12-14

BOOK STORE PLANNED FOR CONVENIENCE OF DELEGATES

Exhibits in Church Basement

During the Student Volunteer Conference which is to be held on our campus this week, there will be a small bookshop in the room to the left of the entrance of the Methodist church. A number of pamphlets and books on current history will be sold at this book shop. Books on missions in all the foreign fields, their needs, their duties, etc., are included in the list to be bought. There will also be pamphlets and bulletins on the Student Volunteer Movement, its aims, plans, and leaders, principle speakers, and officers. Some of these pamphlets present a beautiful challenge to those who are willing to give themselves for service in the foreign fields. Among the books included in the list to be obtained at the "shop" are:

"Creative Forces in Japan," Colen H. Fisher.

"China's Challenge to Christianity," by Lucius C. Porter.

"New Days in Latin America," by Webster E. Browning.

"The Christ of the Indian Road," by E. Stanley Jones.

"Looking Ahead with Latin America."

Student Volunteer Bulletins.

In addition to the bookshop, a very interesting poster exhibit will be held in the basement of the Methodist church. Posters, bulletins, etc., will be contributed by different colleges in the state. These poster exhibits are always one of the most interesting features of the Conference and it is expected that the exhibit this year will be the most attractive one seen in years. Subjects for these posters are drawn from the (Continued on page 3.)

GUILD OFFICERS ARE SELECTED AT MID-TERM

At the last, and one of the most successful, meetings of the Literary Guild this semester new officers were elected, Friday evening, January 22. After the report of the nominating committee the votes were cast with the following results: Ruth Moran, President; Evelyn Session, secretary and treasury; Mary Jo Wood, Chairman of the social committee.

Following the business discussion, Anna Elizabeth Branch told the story and Martha Story gave the criticism of one of the most interesting modern novels, "Old Hurricane", by Miss Fitch. In "Old Hurricane" one finds again the tendency to cast aside all pretense and present the crudities, simplicity, and facts of life as they are.

The study of modern contemporary novels has proved so full of interest and pleasure that the Guild voted to continue it during the spring term.

MR. GEORGE C. BAKER, JR.

Mr. Baker, President of the State Student Volunteer Movement, is to preside at the conference. He is a student in the Theological College at Emory and President of the Emory Glee Club.

CONFERENCE PLANS ARE OUTLINED

(By George C. Baker)

The Georgia Student Volunteer Annual Conference will convene Friday evening, Feb. 12, at eight o'clock, continuing through Sunday evening, February 14, for the purpose of considering the question "My relation, as a follower of Christ, to Foreign Missions". The Conference is to be the guests of the Georgia State College for Women, and the Conference sessions will be held in the Methodist Church adjacent to the campus.

While the Conference is held primarily for Student Volunteers, all students who are vitally interested in missions are urged to attend, for the program is intended to give information and inspiration upon modern missions, in which not only those planning to go to the fields but those who stay at home must have a vital interest and adequate knowledge if this great work is to succeed.

An unusual array of prominent speakers has been secured, including Dr. Robert Wilder, the founder and at present general secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement who will speak several times, Dr. Ashby Jones of Atlanta, who is recognized as one of the foremost thinkers of the South today, Dr. Hounshell, candidate secretary of the Methodist Mission Board, Dr. Chester, secretary of the Presbyterian Board, Dr. Miles, Mr. McConnell, Miss Helen Smith, and several others of note.

It is expected that a large number of students from every college in Georgia will attend, and a real missionary awakening among the students is expected.

REGISTRATION BOOKS SHOW NAMES OF NEW STUDENTS

20 Students Enter on Feb. 1

The Registration books of G. S. C. W. showed the addition of many new names on February 1st. Greater part of the girls were classified as freshman, although the other classes have been increased by students who have returned to renew their work. Places have been made in the dormitories for the new girls by the withdrawal of many of the old students. These students have completed their work and have gone out either to fill responsible positions or to their homes.

The girls entering for the new semester had to some extent an advantage over the girls that entered in September. Everything had been carefully arranged, schedules made out and dormitory affairs settled and the girls had only to step in, taking their place in the machinery of the knowledge factory, G. S. C. W. Now that these girls have entered we cannot do without them, for when one more spoke is added to the wheel it makes it easier to turn, and cripples it if the spoke is in any way hindered in its work.

With the first meeting of the classes of the new semester, the new students showed a willing and co-operative spirit. The old girls and faculty members assisted the new ones with their schedules and the finding of their classrooms.

G. S. C. W. FACULTY IS INCREASED

The faculty and student body welcome the two new members of the faculty, Mrs. Margaret Tuttle and Miss Harriet J. Smith to the college. Mrs. Tuttle, who is to fill Miss Hasslock's place as head of the Household Science Department comes to Milledgeville from the Teachers College at Columbia University. There she completed her Masters degree. Mrs. Tuttle is originally from Tucson, Arizona.

Miss Smith, assistant professor of English is from Rochester, New York. She has her Masters Degree, from the University of Michigan.

Each of the new faculty members has had several years experience teaching in their respective fields. With a willingness to cooperate shown by the students these faculty members have entered into the new work with much enthusiasm. This fact alone ensures the success of their work throughout the entire year.

MARY JANE PARKER TO HEAD FRESHMEN CLASS FOR THIS YEAR

RUTH VAUGHN IS VICE-PRESIDENT

Election to Hasten Self Government

The Freshman Class has completed its election of officers. The officers elected are: Prisedint, Mary Jane Parker, Fairburn; Vice-President, Ruth Vaughn, Cartersville; Miriam Furlow, Madison, Secretary; and Caroline Cheney, Carrolton, Treasurer. The President and Vice-President were elected at regular chapel period, the other two being elected a few days later.

The result of this election will be self-government in the near future. Now is the time for the Freshmen to display their spirit of coöperation, loyalty, and service, all of make for success in student government. This spirit has not been found lacking in the class, and we are assured of its strengthening as the year advances. The officers have, by carrying previous responsibilities, proven themselves worthy of the high honor and weighty responsibility they have been given by their class.

RESULTS OF "WHO'S WHO" CONTEST IS MADE PUBLIC

Winners to Make Up Feature Section of Annual

The returns of the Who's Who contest have been made known. The candidates were the members of the senior degree class while the entire student body cast votes. It was a project of the annual staff. The winners will make up the Feature Section of The Spectrum, representing Shakespearean characters to correspond to the titles given them.

Those chosen were:

1. Most Attractive—Marjorie Maxwell.
2. Most Capable—Margaret Meaders.
3. Most Popular—Frances Hinton.
4. Happiest—Chiff Taylor.
5. Daintiest—E. Louise Smith.
6. Prettiest—Jayme Weeks.
7. Most Original—Eleanor Hatcher.
8. Most Athletic—Ellen McKee.
9. Best-All-Round—Anna Elizabeth Branch.

By a vote of 510 to 135 Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, undergraduates voted to abolish compulsory chapel. The votes were cast by more than one-third of the student body, reports the Student Council, and are considered representative of the college.

A NEW SEMESTER

Bright shades of green appear on the campus horizon. No, not Spring so soon, but the glowing verdure of the new Freshmen. They bring with them new interests, new friendships, and fresh vivacity. We welcome them!

Their arrival but hails the pompous entrance of February, of new schedules, new courses, and new teachers. The inestimable joys of a new beginning! Fresh resolves fill the hearts and minds; fresh ambitions stir the will. New challenges present themselves and they are met with high hopes and earnest desires.

There is a certain satisfaction that comes with work completed. Examinations are over. We have been tried, and we are rewarded with the self respect of an honest victor. There is left feeling of duties accomplished, of tasks fulfilled, of work rewarded. "Joyous we launch out on trackless seas."

New semester we welcome you! Be kind to the students of G. S. C. W.; and bring us finally to the last of June, to the day of days: Graduation Day!

THE SIN OF IMPERSONALITY

"In the intricate world of today our comfort, our health, our very existence, depend on groups of people to whom we scarcely give a thought."

We eat, and consider not the hundreds who have given of themselves that nothing in the prepared food may harm or poison. There is the detailed process of sewing leather for shoes, never considered by the non-chalant wearers. Heat and energy are furnished by the sun, but genius plus the multitudes have transformed these agents into both luxuries and necessities. A powerful dam serves as the force-arm of the electric bulb that steadily brightens the book held before our eyes. And beyond the book looms not only the famous, well-known author, but the millions who have made possible the paper, the printing, the binding—those submerged, obscure people who are the "heart" of a nation, and who give life to inanimate happenings. It is the genius behind the office desk who is praised for his mentality, his ability, his theories. But the theories of the "great men" would be aught without the fathers, mothers, and children who stand ready to give souls and bodies to make possible and practical those ideals.

"If we understood the breath of God's sacramental process we should see His gift in our daily bread as well as in His cross."

STRENGTH THROUGH UNITY

"I am a part of all that I have met;
Yet all experience is an arch where through,
Gleams that untravelled world, whose margin fades
Forever and forever."

Personality is catching; a common experience is broadening; and fellowship makes for the progress and stability of a people. Through united ideals and aspirations we come to have a united purpose that can remold the thoughts, living and actions of groups. Alone we can do little; together we can live for each other and the future.

There is a peculiar force characteristic of the youth of our land. Akindle with hope, faith, and determination we can influence the multitudes. However radical we may seem, our strength is none the less poignant.

We feel especially privileged that a group of earnest, serious-minded, and deep-thinking students are to "week-end" on our campus. They are a band of people who have a common purpose, high ideals, true and unselfish desires. As a worthy loaf they shall leaven the whole, and we trust that great things may be wrought through our efforts united with theirs.

Dormitory cells are crowded with sleepers since the empty "cells" were crammed for exams.

Interesting sleep-walker scenes amuse upper classmen—Freshmen dizzily haunt schedule boards.

Of all of Father Time's blessed prodigy, January is surely the most trying. She is afflicted with after-Christmas indigestion and examination cramps. February we hail your entrance!

LIFE'S A MIRROR

Life's a mirror all in gold
Framed with silver dreams,
All the years it doth unfold
And reflects the fairest gleams.

Life's a mirror all in black
Edged about with twilight,
Bright gaily the hours lack
Come the deepest mid-night!

Life's a mirror, broken dreams,
Life's a glass of sunshine,
It reflects the saddest beams
Or the merry springtime.

So live each glad or weary day,
Live the best you can,
Sweeter grows the bitter way
On this highest plan.

SMILE

Smile and the world will seem brighter,
Smile though life is blue,
Smile and the shadows will vanish
And the sun come shining through;
Smile though the world seems dreary,
And the trials cross your way,
Smile though tired and weary,
Smile through the live-long day.

You'll find at the end of the journey,
That smiles have vanished the tears;
And you'll gain so much from smiling
That you'll smile through all the years.

A smile is a bit of sunshine
That falls on the waters of sorrow
And drives away the ship of tears,
And brightens "Life's Tomorrow".

FAREWELL

We've missed the days of high school
Those days when skies were blue,
When all the world we thought our own
And life was bright and new.

Now sometimes, old college dear,
For yesterday we pine,
We call in vain for the dear old friends,
And good times left behind.

We paused a moment at your door,
And entered a little shy;
And now the time draws near, dear school,
When soon we'll say good-bye.

Would that words could but express,
The love we have for thee;
But in our hearts we'll take away
A treasured memory.

We miss the golden high school days,
Those sweet days of yore;
Now our hearts fill with regret
For we shall miss you more.
But across the silver shining years
We start our journey—yet
Though through distant lands we roam:
Dear College!—we'll not forget.

THE BEAUTY OF SPRING

Very early in each year
Spring comes with her reign of cheer.
Calm and warm the breezy wind
Whispers, "Springtime's here again."

Birds send forth their melody,
Filling hearts with joy and glee.
Love and beauty fill all space
With thoughts of God and bounteous Grace.

Most beautiful are the budding trees,
Unfurling small flags to the breeze.
Grass and moss peep up and say,
"Beauty seekers, come my way."

Flowers nod their dainty heads
At other plants on mossy beds,
From little daisies so white and pure,
To fragrant lilacs, whose perfumes lure.

The dogwood blossoms look like snow,
Beneath them dainty grasses grow.
Spring, your beauty, sublime and grand,
Is greater far than the gold of the land.

Mrs. W. Frank Wells of Hapeville has been appointed superintendent of Missionary Education for the North Georgia Conference Sunday School Board and her work will be to prepare programs to be given in all the Sunday Schools of the Conference one Sunday of each month to create interest in this missionary "dual special".

Being an unusually bright and talented young woman, and a wonderful Bible student and teacher, Mrs. Wells comes to the new office especially fitted to make it a success. She has always been interested in religious work. During her college days at G. S. C. W., when the college was G. N. I. C. and she was Miss Brooksie Stillwell, she was president of the Y. W. C. A. and from that time until the present she has been constantly engaged in some phase of church work but has specialized in teaching the Bible.

THE WAIL OF A HAIR NET

They say that every great thing has its rise and fall. Rome rose with all its splendor; Athens' marvellous history is past; France dazzled the world at one time. Now, in this twentieth century there is another fall.

This mighty fall will be written across the pages of history; it will be told to posterity centuries hence—the rise and fall of the hair net.

In its glory, the hair net was of all colors from a dark brow to a light pink. It was all shapes and forms. It was thing and it was thick, as the occasion demanded. But all this did not keep it from being whisked away when Dame Fashion nodded. She decreed bobbed hair, and when a woman is shorn of all her glory, she hasn't sense enough to use a hair net.

At the height of its career, at the time when it seemed most popular, the hair net made its exit.

There is a rumor that bobbed hair is no longer stylish. When this rumor came out, truly, great people held their breath. Surely the hair net will be reestablished.

EXCHANGE

Students of the University of North Carolina, in order to show how they enjoyed the recently fallen snow there, hit upon the ingenious plan of substituting bed springs and mattresses for sleds. The authorities of the University are still looking for some which were appropriated from the dormitories for this purpose which have never been returned.

REQUISITE FOR A COLLEGE EDITOR

Every student who has had the experience of being the editor of a school paper has felt his inability to measure up to the demands made of him. We find that the following from Huron Alpha Omega so fully expresses the feeling of editors in general that we give space for the same.

A college editor should be a superman endowed with the patience of Job; the editorial ability of Horace Greely; the managing and directing ability of Charles Schawb; the diplomacy of Woodrow Wilson; the judicial qualities of chief justice Marshall; he needs the dignity and philosophy of Socrates; the agnostic tendencies of Ingersoll; he should have the literary ability of Shakespeare; and he should have the lack of conscience of Amy Lowell.

In addition to these qualifications he needs the physique of Jack Dempsey; the nerve of a hold-up man; and Edison's ability to do without sleep. His mind should be constituted that he could absorb the essentials of a twenty-credit course by the harest perusal of the subjects contained and pass the final exams with honors so that the faculty will respect him and allow him to stay in school. He should be absolutely foreign to the needs of rest, sleep, eating, recreation, love of society, the inclination for glory in athletics, and love.

Having these few requisites he should be able to qualify as a fairly competent editor, and there is a possibility that he should not be hauled on the faculty carpet more than once a week, and kicked by the student body in general more than twice a day.—The Sky-Rocket.

TOWN PEOPLE HELP ENTERTAIN DELEGATES

Last evening a committee of town people met in the office of Dr. M. M. Parks to complete plans for the entertainment of delegates to the Student Volunteer Conference which convenes here February 12-14. Miss Oona Goodson, General Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., at the College, Miss Clifford Taylor, President of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Rosabel Burch, Undergraduate Representative of the Y. W. C. A., and Miss Mary Burns, Treasurer of the Georgia Student Volunteer Union, met with the Committee.

Miss Goodson, gave the purpose of the meeting at this time and recalled to the minds of the Committee a similar Conference which was held here four years ago. She also told of the invitations given last Spring by the Mayor, the Ministers of the different Churches, Dr. Parks, and Dr. Holmes for this Conference to convene in Milledgeville this year. Miss Taylor gave the purpose of the Conference for this year and also high-lights on the plans and the program.

It was unanimously voted that the Kiwanis Club and the Chamber of Commerce be responsible for the transportation of delegates from the trains to the various homes.

Dr. Holmes was made Chairman of the Committee, and the other members were: Mayor J. H. Ennis, Dr. M. M. Parks, Rev. H. C. Emory, Rev. H. D. Warnock, Rev. T. G. Watts, Rev. F. H. Harding, Mr. Edwin Sibley, Mr. J. A. Moore, Mr. Miller S. Bell, Mr. R. B. Moore, Mr. C. B. McCullar, Mrs. Frank Bone, Mrs. G. H. Tunnell, Mrs. Marie Jones, Mrs. W. A. Massey, Mrs. William Reeves, Miss Katherine Scott, and Mr. Sidney Stenbridge.

PARTY GIVEN FOR CLASS IN JOURNALISM

Mr. and Mrs. U. T. Wynn instructed the class of Journalism in the arts of a new type of school Monday afternoon, January 25, at their home.

The guests, arriving with the promptness of eager pupils, were seated before a delightful, open fire to await the directions of their instructors. The hostess, as Supervisor of the school, made the initial explanation concerning the schedule of recitations which was as follows:

"The Featureless Story I Did Not Write"—Mary Lee Anderson.

"The News That Was Not News"—Anna Elizabeth Branch.

"When My Letter Was Not Answered"—Mary Fowler.

"The Advantages of a Final Exam for English 29"—Irene Lamkin.

"My Kingdom for a Subject"—Bernice Legg.

"How I Succeeded With Twenty One New Troubles"—Mrs. McCullar.

"A Long Pull and We Are There"—Margaret Meadows.

"Making a Long Story Short"—Augusta Methvin.

"A First Class Editorial"—Frances O'Kelley.

"A College Sport"—Lucile Poole.

"Salt and Pepper for a Country Newspaper"—Louise Salter.

"Why Policemen Are Courteous"—Frances Thaxton.

At the end of the recitation hour the host declared a recess which was under the supervision of the hostess. Following minutely the instructions of Mrs. Wynn, forgetting that they were college students, they became "as little children" and ate peanuts, apples, and candy to their hearts' content.

The school closed after a very nappy and successful session.

MISS HASSLOCK, BROOKS AND ROGERS GIVE LUNCHEON

The Milledgeville branch of the American Association of University Women was most delightfully entertained Tuesday, January 26, at a luncheon. The affair was given in honor of Miss Eleanor Boswell, national executive secretary of the association, by Miss Hasslock, Miss Rogers and Miss Brooks. Miss Boswell gave in a most impressive and attractive manner the aims and purpose of the association. The luncheon was served in the Household Science Department of the Georgia State College for Women.

Assisting the hostesses were the upper classmen who are specializing in Home Economics: Callie Patten, Daisy Daniel, Mollie Carr, Avonelle Salmon, Rebecca Auld, Joyce Henderson, Eva Swann, and Jimmy Weeks.

Among the club members present were: Miss Eleanor Boswell, Mrs. J. L. Rozar, Mrs. Rentz, Mrs. J. C. Sallie, Mrs. Daniel, Mrs. Beeson, Mrs. Parks, Dr. Johnson, Miss Andrews, Miss Bolton, Miss Myrick, Miss Hasslock, Miss Miller, Miss Hasslock, Miss Tuller, Miss Canfield, Miss Annie Harper, Miss Scott, Miss Dietrich, Miss Brooks, Miss Rogers, and Miss Crowe.

"Y" KEEPS OPEN HOUSE DURING EXAMINATIONS

Have you ever felt like just a little friendliness, a little happiness was what you needed more than anything else in the world? Did you feel exactly that way during finals? You did, didn't you? Then perhaps you went by the Y. room, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

There were happiness, music, and lovely things besides the delicious tea that was served. On Thursday the room was a little French tea shop with French maids waiting on the guests. On Friday there were old fashioned ladies who served tea in an old fashioned way. Their costumes, the arrangement of their parlor, everything was in keeping with the period presented.

On the last day, a lovely Japanese tea garden was transplanted into our Y. room—soft lights, soft music, pretty flowers, and little Japanese girls in soft silks. The tea would have made any Japanese envious. Did you go and get the happy little feeling inside that it seemed to inspire, the thought that someone was vitally interested in you?

JACK FROST HONOR GUEST AT PARTY

Miss Louise Frost better known as "Jack" was the honor guest at a cupid party given by the History Club on Saturday afternoon.

The History room was most attractive, being decorated in red and white, carrying out the idea of cupids and valentines very fully. The guests were welcomed on their arrival by Miss Marjorie Maxwell, president of the History Club. After the exchange of greetings between all present, Marjorie announced that "Jack" was the honor guest. It was explained that this honor had been bestowed upon her because she had completed the work for her Degree and was to soon leave G. S. C. W.

Every member of the club expressed to "Jack" their very best wishes for her success. Many interesting and exciting games were participated in. Delicious refreshments were served by members of the club. The refreshments especially featured the idea of Valentines.

SCIENCE CLUB ENJOYS SOCIAL

The Science Club held its monthly social Monday afternoon February 1, in the Torrell gymnasium, at 5:30 o'clock. The Club colors, "Gold and White" were carried out very effectively in the decorations. The entertainment was opened by a humorous one word play given by Lorene Teaver and May Evans. This was followed by several games, such as, "The Prince of Wales has lost his hat," "Grab the Handkerchief," and "This is my Nose." These were conducted by Rebecca Higginson, chairman of the social committee. Afterwards, the guests were served with a delightful salad course. From the peals of laughter heard from the gym room, one would be assured that a most enjoyable hour had been spent.

Tot: "Ozardines."

EMORY STUDENTS LEAD VESPERS

Mr. G. C. Baker and Mr. J. C. Thoroughman of Emory outlined the plan for the Student Volunteer Conference to be held at G. S. C. W. February 12 through the 14th at Vesper Service Sunday night, February 31.

Frances Thaxton conducted the service and introduced Mr. Thoroughman, a member of the National Council of the Student Volunteer Movement. He gave a brief outline of the history of the organization and its purpose, paying a special tribute to Dr. Robert P. Wilder, the man of faith. He then introduced Mr. Baker who is president of the Georgia Student Volunteer Union and of the Emory Glee Club.

In outlining the plans for the coming conference he stated that its purpose it to make each student think, "What is my relation to foreign missions?" Mr. Asby Jones of Atlanta will speak the first evening on "Modern Youth, Where Bound", and the well loved Robert Wilder will be here also.

Mr. Baker and Mr. Thoroughman continued their visit through Monday, holding conferences, perfecting plans already made, and making others.

CHAPEL SINGER DELIGHTS STUDENTS

On Thursday morning, January twenty first, the faculty members, Juniors and Seniors were delightfully surprised when, as an addition to the usual chapel exercise, Miss Catherine Nelson, head of the department of voice in the Woman's College at Due West, South Carolina, rendered two lovely and interesting selections. Miss Nelson's voice was pleasing in its full, rich tones and resonant quality as she sang, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from the opera "Samson and Delilah" arousing great enthusiasm from her audience. As an encore she sang a "Negro Spiritual," a purely Southern melody.

Miss Nelson was the guest of Miss Catherine Beeson, daughter of Dr. J. L. Beeson, Dean of the School of Arts, Georgia State College. Miss Beeson is a member of the College faculty.

MISS CANDLER ENTERTAINS BIBLE CLASS

Miss Mary Candler entertained Bible Study Class Tuesday afternoon, January 19, at the home of Dr. L. W. Lee on West Hancock Street. The girls left the campus at five thirty and were chaperoned by Annie Candler.

A cheery fire was burning in the living room and everyone enjoyed chatting together. Annie Candler gave a reading from "Hagar". The guests were served coffee, cheese flakes, and salted peanuts.

After the refreshments came the farewells, the campus, and the end of a perfect social hour.

BOOK STORE PLANNED FOR CONVENIENCE OF DELEGATES

(Continued from page 1.) need of, foreign missionaries, the plans and aims of the Student Volunteer Movement, etc. The Poster Committee of Y. W. C. A. is planning a number of beautiful posters to be used in this exhibit.

The Book Shop and poster exhibit will undoubtedly be two of the outstanding features of the whole conference. To all those who are eager for information about Japan, China, Latin America, Australia and the missionaries now serving in these fields, an invitation is extended to visit the little room at the left of the entrance, and the basement of the Methodist church.

FOUNDER OF MOVEMENT WILL ADDRESS THE CONFERENCE

H. Chester is to speak on The Aims and Motives of Missionary Work. He is Candidate Secretary of Foreign Missionary Board at Nashville, Tennessee. This enables him to give a clear insight into the work to those who feel they do not fully understand these aims and motives.

Miss Helen Smith, who is Traveling Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, New York, is to be here during the entire conference giving of herself in a whole hearted way. She will discuss Movement Conscience and Finance of the Movement.

Probably the most widely known of the number will be Dr. Robert P. Wilder, founder of the movement. Dr. Wilder can, no doubt, explain the entire movement from the first efforts until now better than any other person. Saturday night he will give the Origin, Purpose, Achievements of the Movement. Prayer is to be his subject for his address Sunday morning. It has also fallen upon him to give the closing address of the conference Sunday night. The nature of his talk will probably be governed a great deal by the outcome of the conference.

Dr. C. Q. Hounshel and Mr. Joe McConnell will each address the conference in their characteristic way. Dr. Hounshel is serving as Candidate Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Nashville, Tennessee. In Mr. McConnell the students will find a returned missionary from India, who will cite many of his missionary experiences. Since his return he has been doing regular Y. M. C. A. work making his headquarters in Atlanta.

Other speakers will attend all or part of the conference. Among those the most outstanding are Rev. Dr. Robert W. Myers, Student Secretary of the Presbyterian Church South, Richmond, Va., and Rev. C. J. Hart, Rector of Christ's Church, Macon.

Foreign students studying in universities in this country will contribute much in talks, conferences, discussion groups and relationships.

CONFERENCE PLANS OUTLINED

The program includes a reception Friday night after the first session, a recreational period Saturday afternoon, and many other pleasant features. The cooperation shown by the girls of the college, and by the people of the city, indicates that a very efficient Conference in every detail will be enjoyed, and that the program will be carried out in splendid style. The best Conference in the history of the Georgia Union is expected.
